Apprenticeship and School Information:

- Anyone can attend our Apprenticeship and Technical Training classes – you do not have to be a state registered apprentice or even working in the field you are interested in to attend classes.
- An Apprenticeship consists of two parts – 1) is the accumulation of on-the-job hours of training and 2) is the related instruction (trade theory).
- Your sponsor (employer) provides the on-the-job training and must register you with the Delaware Department of Labor, the Apprenticeship and Training Department.
- New Castle County Vo-Tech Adult Education Division provides the related classroom instruction.
- The State of Delaware pays the tuition ($300 or $560) for Apprentices whose Delaware companies have registered them with the Delaware Department of Labor. Companies outside of Delaware who register their student with the Delaware Department of Labor must prove that the student is a Delaware resident in order to receive the tuition waiver. All students are responsible for paying the $140 Administrative Fee.
- Students who live and work in a state other than Delaware are welcome to attend classes but will need to pay the full tuition and administrative fee if not registered with the Department of Labor as an apprentice.
